OLD CAMP OF HAMILTON IS BECOMING ACTIVE AGAIN

The old camp of Hamilton, Nev., which in the latter part of the 60s was one of the most talked of camps of the sage brush state, is again becoming active in a substantial way. At one time it was one of the big lead-silver camps of the west and the town of Hamilton is probably one of the most mournful landmarks of mining to be found in the country today.

A. B. WITCHEY, a banker at Ely, has a lease on the Jennie A mine and is getting out considerable ore. This will shortly be shipped by way of Eureka. The Hamilton Power, Mining and Transportation company has out 2000 sacks of ore ready for market and besides that has about 400 tons of ore broken down in the mine ready for shipment. The ore from this property will average about $65 a ton. E. J. McEllin, one of the old timers in the camp, is working a property from which considerable ore is being taken. At the Ne Plus Ultra, owned by the Bambergers, ve or six men are at work—Ely Record.

SILVER, LEAD AND ZINC IN STATE OF ILLINOIS

The value of the silver, lead and zinc produced at the mines in Illinois in 1913 was $326,963, according to J. P. Dunlop, of the United States geological survey. This is less than half the value of the production for 1912, which was $679,259. Development work was, however, more active than in previous years, so that the outlook is stated to be better for 1914.

PITCHERS

Red McGhee, sez:

It's often struck me funny, boys, that pitchers make the biggest noise wherever baseball's played. In training camp or pennant race the pitcher seems to cop the place out front in the parade.

The guy that plays at first or catch is just as vital to the match it always seems to me, but somehow when the ol' spotlights puts some guy in its circle bright the pitcher's who you'll see.

An' when you come to dope it out it's just like tryin' to learn about why chickens never swim. A pitcher works one game in four, his teammates' bats run up a score, the credit goes to him. Somehow it 'minds me of a band. We always think the drummer's grand. While all the other men with flutes and cornets play the air, the drummer, with a wave and flare, comes in just now and then.

I ain't for changing it at all. Not me! It's such kinks make baseball. But notice it some time. It's just as certain as the sun, an' I'll bet anyone a ton o' dollars to a dime, at corner sandlot game o' sides or that big contest that decides world's champs—no matter which—the only question that you'll hear when time to start a game draws near is: "Say, who's gonna pitch?"

Red McGhee

In the District Court of the Fifth Judicial District of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Nye.

The Tonopah Banking Corporation, a corporation, plaintiff, vs. Robert C. Hall, defendant. No. 3000.

Summons.

The State of Nevada sends greetings to said defendant, Robert C. Hall: You are hereby summoned to appear within ten days after the service upon you of this summons if served in said county, or within twenty days if served out of said county but within said judicial district, and in all other cases within forty days (exclusive of the day of service), and defend the above entitled action.

This action is brought to recover a judgment for two thousand seven hundred seventy-seven and 85/100 dollars ($2777.85) due upon that certain promissory note made, executed, and delivered by you on the seventh day of November, 1912, to the above named plaintiff, for three hundred dollars ($300.00) attorney fees, interest at the rate of one per cent per month, and costs of suit.

Dated, April 9, 1914.

ROBERT G. POHL, Clerk of said Court.

SACRAMENTO LAND OFFERED FOR SALE

Percy Oke has been appointed sales agent for the Fair Oaks tract of farm and fruit lands fifteen miles from Sacramento, where there has never been known to have a failure by frost. Anything can be grown in the district, which is reputed to be one of the best in California, and Mr. Oke has a letter from the California State Horticultural commissioner to the effect that the valley is deserving of the highest praise as a place for investment.

Mr. Oke is too well known in this section for him to take on any doubtful proposition and he took care to assure himself by personal inspection that the statements of the owners were warranted by the facts. The land is well watered and tracts are offered on easy payments.

If it's of exceptional value at the price, it's sure to be advertised in the Bonanza, else the merchant would price it, it's sure to be advertised in the Bonanza, else the merchant would be unreasonably unprofitable.

DANGERS OF PUTRIFICATION OF SOIL.

A careful perusal of the Farmers' Bulletin No. 270-527, issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, brings out the facts that while the government does recommend certain plans for the individual disposal of sewage as a relief from nuisances and cess-pools, these recommendations are intended only for the rural home where no other mode of disposal is available, and under certain restrictions that must be carefully followed, otherwise the dangers of putrefaction of soil is as imminent as under the old methods in vogue on farms and in sparsely populated communities.

Quoting from the investigation, contained in Bulletin No. 527, page 20, of C. A. Ocock and W. H. Wright, of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Madison, Wis., of W. C. Davidson, of the Engineering Experiment Station at Columbia, Mo., of Oscar Erf, of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Manhattan, Kans., and of W. H. Booker of the North Carolina Board of Health, and after indicating the designs of various individual disposal systems the salient remarks follow:

"The tank should be constructed as nearly water-tight as possible, preferably of concrete, and some means should be provided at the bottom to facilitate the cleaning out of the settled sludge."

"The tank should be at least 175 feet away from the house, and the sewer from the house should be vitrified sewer pipe with carefully cemented joints and laid to a grade of not less than one foot to the 100 feet."

On page 29, of Bulletin No. 270, the following is worthy of mention in connection with the care of septic tanks for individual sewage disposal:

"It is necessary to inspect the chamber from time to time
